

Statistics with the top 100

Video Games Sold

Out of these regions the US are the largest consumer while Japan is the smallest consumer. Japan is the only country that has a major bias towards their own games sales wise. Although this data may be misrepresentative since all regions have highest sales from JP

Shooters, Platormers, and Sports games tend to be the most popular games in both the EU and US. While RPG's are the most popular genre in Japan.

The conclusion I draw from this data is that Genre has a much larger effect on sales in different regions than development location.